

Baccarat

INTRODUCTION

Although many people do not know how to play, Baccarat is actually one of the easiest casino games to play. It has been played in various forms since the early 1800's.

In Baccarat, cards are dealt to two hands, named Player and Banker. The object of the game is to correctly pick which hand will have the higher score. You can also place a bet on Tie, which pays 9 to 1.

GAME PLAY

To play Baccarat you simply choose whether you want to bet on Player, Banker, Tie, or any combination of the three.

To place a bet, place your chips in the area in which you wish to bet, either Player, Banker, or Tie. After the hands are dealt, if you correctly bet on the outcome, you win.

If you bet on Player and win, you win even money. A R5 wager pays back your R5, plus an additional R5.

If you bet on Banker and win, you win even money minus a 5% commission.

If you bet on Tie and win, you win 9 times your wager. A R5 wager pays back your R5, plus an additional R45.

THE DEAL

At the start of the game, the Player and Banker hands are each dealt two cards. If the score of either hand totals 8 or 9, the game is over and no further cards are dealt to either hand.

If neither hand scored 8 or 9, the game proceeds as follows:

The Player goes first and must play according to the following rules:

The Player hand draws another card if its total is 0-5, otherwise it does not draw another card. Play now proceeds to the banker.

If the Banker hand totals 7, 8 or 9, the Banker does not get another card.

If the Banker's first two cards total 0,1 or 2, then the Banker draws one card

Card Values

- The suits of the cards have no meaning in the game.
- Cards 2 through 9 count as face value.
- 10, Jack, Queen, and King count as 0.
- Ace counts as 1.

To calculate the score for the hand, add the values of each card and drop the ten's digit.

Please note that the above guidelines are general guidelines and may vary according to game type.
